Job 38 – God Speaks to Job A. God speaks to Job. 1. (1) The LORD speaks to Job from the whirlwind. Then the LORD answered Job out of the whirlwind, and said: a. Then the LORD: Over the previous 35 chapters (since Job 2), God has been directly absent from the account. We read nothing of God's direct role in comforting, speaking to, or sustaining Job in the midst of his crisis.

In The Comforting Whirlwind, acclaimed environmentalist and writer Bill McKibben turns to the biblical book of Job and its awesome depiction of creation to demonstrate our need to embrace a bold new paradigm for living if we hope to reverse the current trend of ecological destruction. With reference to the consequences of our poorly considered and self-centered environmental practices—global warming, ozone degradation, deforestation—McKibben combines

God may speak to Job out of a whirlwind that McKibben describes as “comforting,” but we should not be surprised to hear God speak to us through storms and natural disasters.

The Comforting Whirlwind - Jason Micheli

God never gives Job the response Job has sought. But taken on an altogether different level, God’s reply from the whirlwind renders the questions to which Job has sought answers obsolete. God’s answer for Job is no answer at all, yet it satisfies Job totally. Somehow this is a Comforting Whirlwind. Job forgets all his sufferings and grievances.

Religion Book Review: The Comforting Whirlwind: God, Job ...

Among his books is a more unusual one, a commentary on Job called The Comforting Whirlwind: God, Job and the scale of creation. The book of Job, McKibben suggests, is about a man wrestling with an experience that defies the conventional wisdom of his time. The understanding of his age was that God rewarded the good and punished the wicked.

Enduring Word Bible Commentary Job Chapter 38

God simply appears in a whirlwind and reminds Job that he, Job, is not God. God is. With biting sarcasm, God overthrows the idea that human beings are, or should be, at the center of God's attention by reminding Job of the immense, beautiful, wild, sometimes frightening and occasionally grotesque creation that is the object of God's love, a world of which human beings are but a part.
